The incident with Utsuho actually turned out to be a good thing!

Published at Reitaisai 7

This time it really was quite a kerfuffle with too many characters affecting the amount of work, and there was also my moving... Also, due to my buying a full anthology of Azumanga Daioh, there are a few jokes related to it in this doujin.

YOTSUBA & GOD

Extra chapter

I believe that cross-overs should be avoided, but because it's "Suwako &!" I wanted to try drawing it once. But due to my being in a slump, my pen didn't really want to move, so it turned into quite a flat composition.

Lastly, thank you for inviting me as a guest!

SUWAKO&!

CONGRATS ON THE COMPILATION.

Congratulations on the anthology being published!
I've been really waiting for this!! It's finally here!
I feel honored to be present at this moment to be remembered in time.
Ever since we started working together at Comiket, I've been following his work as a fan. I still remember how impressed I was by the perfection of the cover back then.
"Suwako&!" is the most popular doujinshi printed by our company.
Sakana-san seems to enjoy his collaboration with us, "Onbashi Lion".
Thank you for taking care of us. We're much obliged to Suwako-sama.
It'd be nice if we could develop many more projects together.
I'll be looking forward to even more works. Thank you very much.

Right. A compilation, huh.
But first of all, nice to meet you, or maybe thank you for your continued patronage! I'm Sakana.
I drew the first chapter of Suwako's! about 3 years ago, I guess?
Posted a picture on a certain Touhou-related oekaki board (the prototype of the first volume's cover).
Then I thought it was fun and published a book... That way or another, it all happened so fast.
After that, a lot of people were kind enough to pick up my book, so I managed to go as far as publishing a compilation! I'm really grateful!
And this time there were only a few things to correct in the original - super-easy~ Hehe~
Or so I thought, but it wasn't like that at all!
It took an unreasonable amount of time to match my output to the fixing.
I want to go and hit myself from three months ago for thinking that, lol.
If there's some moire in the toning on some pages, that's my personal responsibility, and I'm sorry;

Leaving that aside, I want to thank a lot of people I depended on in different ways this time!
And thanks again to Fuu-san and tomorrow-san for contributing their guest pages!
Thank you!

This is basically a summary of almost 3 years' work, but I still think I haven't realized many of my ideas, so I want to concentrate on it.
Well then, till we meet again at some event!

Thank you very much for picking up Suwako's! Compilation this time!
